Need to escape, take a good dose of fresh air for 3 days? With its 4000 accessible, the peaks of Mont Rose are there for that! Glacial atmosphere, imposing faces, everything is there, we are in Monterosa. The proposed stay departs from the bottom of the Champoluc valley for a gentle acclimation through the Val d'Aosta alpine pastures. During these 3 days of mountaineering we will review the basics of cramping and safety techniques in the mountains before setting off to attack the 4000m emblematic Mont Rose. An accessible and exotic course for mountain lovers

You will love

- Ascent of one or more "4000" by an ice course
- Stunning views of the Alpine massif and particularly mild weather
- A concentrate of the most beautiful peaks of the Alps
- A stay within reach of good hikers in the mountains, beginners in mountaineering
- Gradual acclimatization to avoid mountain sickness.

Day-by-day itinerary

DAY 1

Reception at Gressoney-Staffal at 12.30 pm. Plan to have lunch already . Transfer option possible from Chamonix train station, to be booked in advanced, meet at 09.30pm .

ORESTES REFUGE

Departure from Staffal (Gressoney), along the beautiful 'Lys' balcony path. This wild route leads gently to the foot of the Mont Rose massif.

First night of acclimatisation in the magnificent Orestes refuge.

Altitude difference: +850m;

DAY 2

ICE SCHOOL - GNIFETTI REFUGE

The route leaves the greenery to climb through the rocks to the Garstelet glacier. An ice school is planned to apprehend the equipment for the next day's ascent.

Overnight at the shelter, in the dormitory.

Altitude difference: +1000m

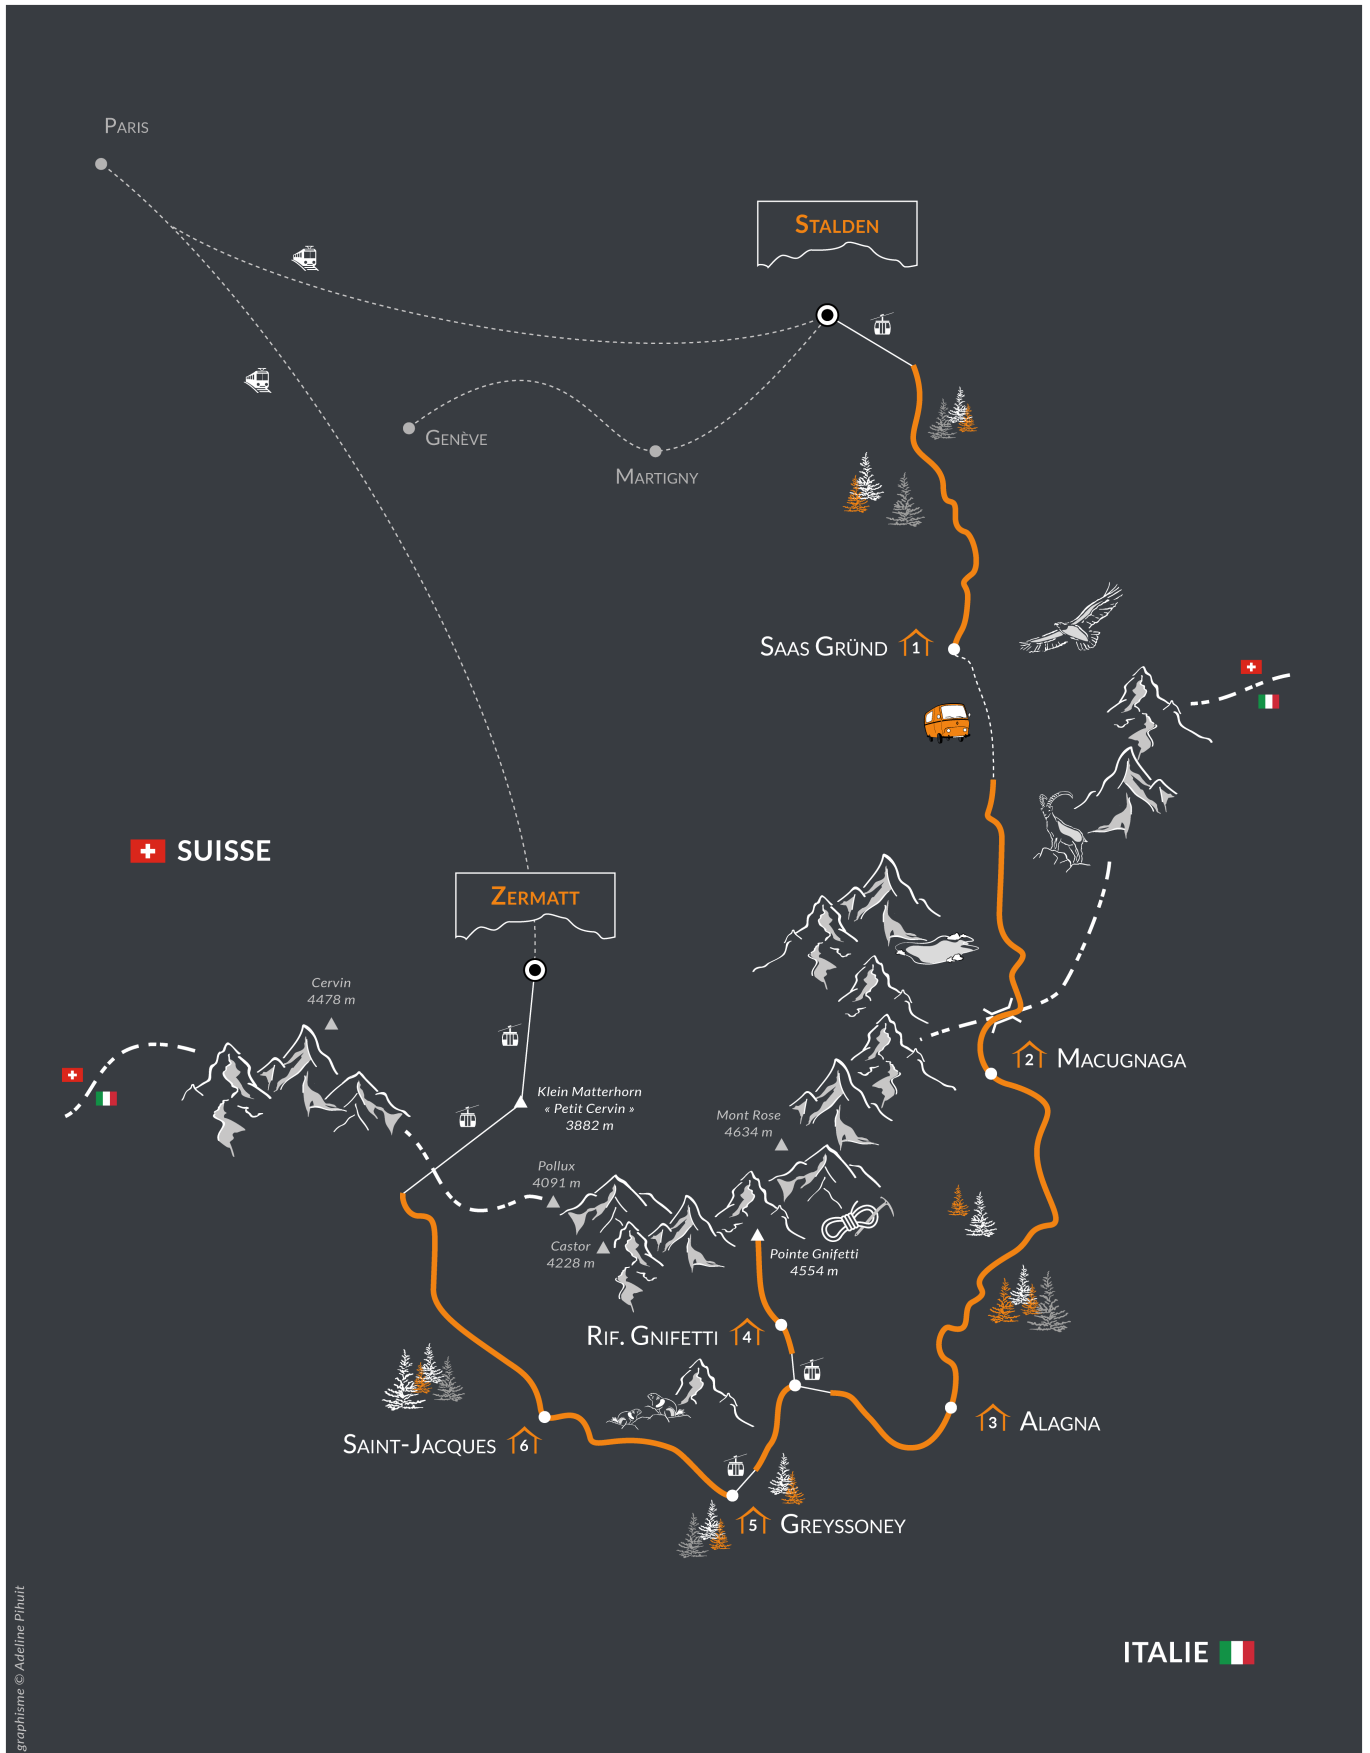

DAY 3

PUNTA GNIFETTI OBJECTIVE (4554m)

There is no shortage of choices for beautiful glacial hikes with the ascent of Zumstein Point (4563m), Gnifetti (4553m) and/or the Vincent Pyramid (4215m) depending on the conditions. Descent to the Indren cable car. Return to Gressoney by the lifts.

End of the trip at Gressoney-Staffal around 3pm.

This is an example of a Monte Rosa climbing internship program in Italy. Weather, snow and mountain conditions as well as the level of participants could lead the guide to modify the latter or to make certain routes in a different order.

The journey

LEVEL ****

Technical level:

Race accessible to well-trained beginners! No particular difficulty, it is however desirable to have already walked with crampons and to have a habit of walking (off-trail) in the mountains with a backpack of several kilos and walking at more than 3000m altitude.

Physical level:

Used to outdoor sports. Regular practice of endurance sports (cycling, hiking, running, cross-country skiing, swimming). Otherwise do three times a week an hour of jogging, for 2 to 3 months before departure (10km/h).

GUIDING

Number of participants between 2 and 5 people supervised by a state-certified mountain guide.

The guide may at any time modify the itinerary or interrupt the stay of a participant who does not have the level required for his/her own safety and that of the other participants. In this case, the participant concerned will not be entitled to any refund. In the event of very bad weather, and again to ensure the safety of participants, the course may be cancelled. In this case, we will consider requests for reimbursement on the basis of the number of days spent on the course.

ACCOMODATION

Half board shelter in dormitory 2 nights, bed sheets and towels not provided, blankets provided, obligatory sack sheet, shared sanitary facilities. For personal purchases: CB is not accepted, take cash.

MEALS

Breakfasts and dinners are served in the accommodation.

For lunch, picnics of days 2 and 3 are provided by the accomodation.

Please inform us about your food allergies and special diets at the time of booking.

We do our best to accommodate special diets (gluten-free, vegetarian, etc.). However, we encourage you to bring some additional products for your own picnics.
